Market-Neutral Pair Trader

Picking Pairs

Market-Neutral Pair Trader hunts for strongly correlated tokens.

Such pairs with price ratios that deviate from historical averages can be considered as candidates for a market-neutral pair trade (i.e., long the underperforming token and short the outperforming token, with equal dollar value positions in each token to enable market neutrality).

Picking Pairs — Layer-1 & Layer-2

PENGU and LION were launched in December 2024 and March 2025, respectively, and currently lack sufficient data.

Pair Trader: BTC vs ETH

The price ratio (BTC price divided by ETH price) hovered between -1 standard deviation (SD) and mean level in December.

- Bitcoin mining industry faced headwinds as hashprice — a metric for miner profitability that tracks expected revenue per unit of computing power expended to mine blocks — fell to a multi-year low.
- Ethereum activated the Fusaka upgrade on its mainnet on 3 December.
- Ethereum Foundation announced a new technical roadmap for zkEVM, shifting the focus from speed to security. The roadmap includes a 128-bit security target by 2026 to align standards with cryptographic standardisation bodies.

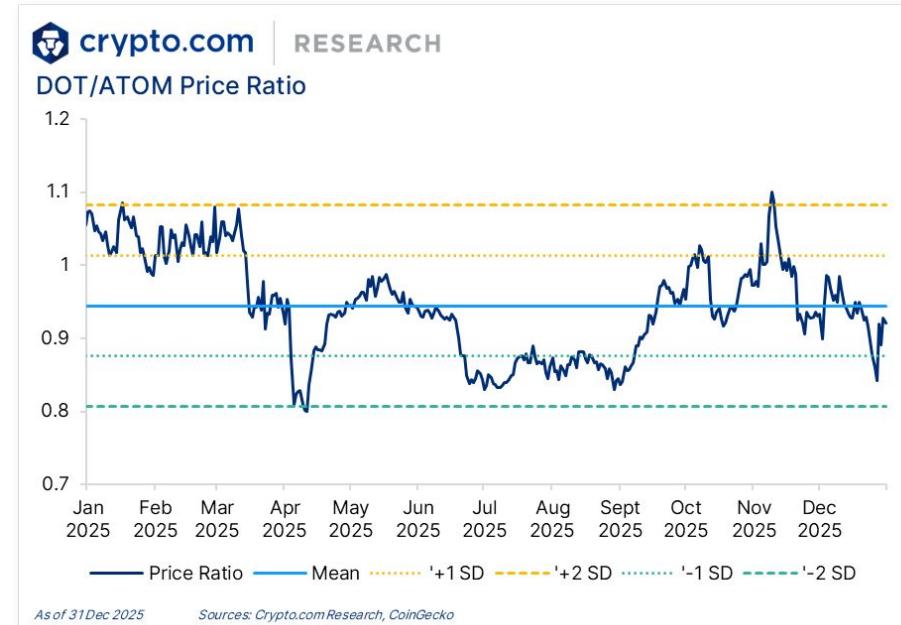

Pair Trader: DOT vs ATOM

The price ratio (DOT price divided by ATOM price) oscillated around its mean level in December.

- Polkadot's Runtimes v2.0.4 release in December introduced several important network changes. The update eliminated treasury burns on the Asset Hub and significantly raised the base deposit for signed Nominated Proof-of-Stake (NPoS) solutions — Polkadot's consensus mechanism in which nominators choose validators to secure the network — from 4 DOT to 100 DOT. These revisions are part of ongoing efforts to improve Polkadot's core protocol by optimising network security and economics. Additionally, a major exchange announced it would integrate the USDC stablecoin with Polkadot.

- Cosmos Labs released an updated roadmap for the Cosmos Stack, detailing its development strategy through to Q3 2026. A key focus of the plan is performance improvement, targeting speeds of 5,000 transactions per second and block times of 500 milliseconds. Furthermore, the roadmap emphasises broadening interoperability outside the Cosmos ecosystem to connect with Solana, EVM chains, and Layer-2 (L2) solutions.

Pair Trader: ARB vs OP

The price ratio (ARB price divided by OP price) swung around the -1 SD level in December.

- 92.65 million ARB tokens (approximately 0.93% of the total supply) were scheduled to unlock on 16 December.
- The total tokenised value of Robinhood's tokenised stocks and ETFs on Arbitrium reached over $13 million in December.
- The Optimism Collective announced Ether.fi (weETH) as its strategic liquid staking partner on OP Mainnet. weETH will serve as a core asset for OP Mainnet, integrating across decentralised exchanges (DEXs), lending protocols, and custodial platforms. The partnership offers competitive staking and restaking yields with transparent, audited architecture compatible with institutional partners.

Pair Trader: NEAR vs AVAX

RENDER/GRT

The price ratio (RENDER price divided by GRT price) hovered between -1 SD and mean level in December.

- The Render Network Foundation introduced Dispersed, a new platform that utilises its distributed GPU network to address the global shortage of AI compute power by aggregating thousands of GPUs for scalable, high-performance computing.
- The Graph's Horizon mainnet upgrade transitioned the protocol from a Subgraph-centric model to a versatile, modular platform for various blockchain data services, enabling permissionless development of real-time data streams, pre-indexed APIs, and analytics solutions, all secured by the existing GRT infrastructure.
